Read the paragraph below, underline the misspelled words, and then write them correctly on lines one through eight.

My class is going to write and publish a book this year! We are going to geeve it to our parents when it is complete. The topic of our book is, "What I want to be when I grow up." I think my parents will be so happy to resieve such a gift. I think I am going to write about wanting to be a detecteve. That is a very interesting job. I can help find fugeteves and save lives. Although, as talktive as I am, I might make a great talk show host. Being a liv TV personality is very appealing to me. I am also a very comppetitive person. I can try to make my career as an NFL star. As one can see, this is a hard decision. It will be a reflecteve time for me as I try to figure out what to do. I truly cannot consieve what my future holds because of my many interests.
